NanoBioMatters Japan, subsidiary of NanoBioMatters Industries, is the first European company joining SIAA as an Antimicrobial Manufacturer Member

Formerly known Society of Industrial-technology for Antimicrobial Articles, now, Society of International sustaining growth for Antimicrobial Articles, founded in 1998, is an organization for standardization and promotion of antimicrobial technology.

NanoBioMatters has obtained SIAA approval for BactiBlock® 101 R1.43 and BactiBlock® 101 R1.47, patented ion silver and clay based antimicrobial agent, being the first clay based antimicrobial registered in the Association. BactiBlock® technology has been approved in SIAA as a high quality and Safe silver based antimicrobial technology.

SIAA follows the regulation and guidelines of the Japanese Government to control the quality and safety of the best antimicrobials in the market. SIAA Mark certifies the quality and Safety of the antimicrobial product, being an internationally recognized mark. SIAA also played an important role on development of JIS Z 2801, globalised as ISO 22196, the International Method to test the antimicrobial effectiveness around the world.
